

Lawrence Wong ✓

15 February at 21:20 · 🌐

居安思危 - to remain vigilant in times of peace. We learnt this through a painful time in our history - the Japanese Occupation, and it remains a very relevant lesson today as we grapple with the current Covid-19 crisis.

Many thanks to the Singapore Chinese Chamber of Commerce and Industry for organising the War Memorial Service for the past 54 years, and for launching an e-book this year capturing the stories of those who had suffered through the Occupation and significance of the Civilian War Memorial.

The best homage we can pay to our forefathers and pioneers is to continue to hold fast to the spirit and values of Total Defence, as we work to overcome this pandemic, and build a better Singapore.

You can read the e-book here: bit.ly/SCCCI-WMS

👍❤️👏 1.5K

35 comments 82 shares

<https://www.facebook.com/LawrenceWongST/posts/265664198252400>